SMUT IN WHEAT.—THE WEEVIL.—A subscriber writing from Perryville, Ky., requests us to suggest some remedy for the smut and weevil in wheat. He says: "The smut seems to baffle the skill of our best farmers, appearing in fields where they had sowed pure seed, as they thought at least. Another difficulty is the weevil, which often injures the best wheat that is grown in our country so much that it is almost unfit to manufacture into flour. They injure it almost invariably when it is stacked, and very often when it is threshed and garnered immediately after harvest."

The smut, so common in wheat, is found to be a vegetable parasite of the fungi family, and is the species known as Uredo tritici. It is propagated by seed which are remarkably minute. There are various applications by which the vegetative power of the seeds may be destroyed, but the most common and sure plan is, to soak the seed wheat in strong brine, and, in order to remove any lighter grains of wheat and fowl seeds it may contain, it is best to soak but a small quantity at a time, stirring it with a stick. The light grains and fowl seeds will rise to the top and may be skimmed off. When the wheat has been thoroughly wet it may be spread on a floor and dried, or rendered fit for sowing by mixing with it recently air-slaked lime.

Another sure remedy is blue vitriol (sulphate of copper). Dissolve two ounces in hot water for every bushel of wheat; add as much water as will cover the grain, stirring it well. The seed should soak two or three hours and then be dried by mixing with it lime or plaster.

The Weevil.—There are a great variety of insects that depredate upon grain called weevil, but many of them are erroneously called so. Among these is the wheat midge, which possesses none of the characteristics of the true weevil. This insect has not yet found its way into Kentucky, but it has been very destructive in some of the adjacent States. It has been working its way westward at the rate of about 50 miles a year for some years past.

The black weevil (Curculio granarius), which is well known in barns, granaries, and mills, is easily expelled by various means. A sure and simple method of effecting this is to place pieces of sassafras (lanous) root in the grain and bins infested with them.

But the insect of which our correspondent complains is evidently the flying weevil or moth, and belongs to the genus phalena. It is found not only in wheat but also in corn. Wheat in bulk that is infested with this insect becomes considerably warmer than the surrounding atmosphere. It is most common between the parallels of latitude of 38 and 40 deg., and has been very destructive in Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, and other Western and Southern States. Dr. Harris, in his valuable work on "Insects Injurious to Vegetation," fully describes it. The insect deposits its eggs upon the soft portion of the grain (probably before it is harvested) near the upper margin of the heart. From this point the larva works its way into the center of the grain, living upon the farina until it is ready to pass into the chrysalis state, previous to emerging into the perfect insect.

The Remedy.—Various remedies have been tried, but to be effectual the grain must be threshed as early after harvest as possible, always before August. Sunning and stirring the grain after it is cleaned is found to be an effectual remedy. But later experience seems to favor the opinion that constant or repeated stirring alone will destroy the vitality of the eggs. Some farmers effect this by passing the wheat occasionally through the fan-mill, but the most effectual method is to run it through a smut machine.

Mr. Edward Warren, of Sandusky, Ohio, has recently invented a self-shifting apparatus by which the grain is carried from floor to floor of a warehouse in such a manner that every particle is brought in contact with the air and kept in motion, thus preventing injury from confined air and inert contact of the particles with each other, which not only prevents mustiness but the weevil also, which are only developed in masses of perfectly inert grain.

We would advise those farmers who are annoyed by this insect to change the location of their stock yards, brush, wash, and lime their granaries, which, with the other precautions here proposed, we think may effectually avoid injury from this enemy.

DISCHARGED.—Harriet Barritt, Fanny Smith, Isaac Goodwin, and J. W. Thomas, who were in jail for being in the State without license, were whipped and discharged.—St. Louis Mir.

Shame on Missouri.—"Whipped and discharged" for the crime of being free men and women!—Chicago Journal.

If these free negroes had gone to Illinois and the laws of that State had been executed, they would have been sold "for the crime of being free men and women."

The case involving the license question was disposed of on yesterday before the Hon. W. F. Bullock.

The application was made by Mr. Kean, proprietor of the Louisville Hotel, for a license to vend spirituous liquors in connection with his Hotel. Application was made by a number of coffee-house keepers, also. The question was brought upon a writ of mandamus against the Mayor and Council.

Judge Bullock held that a license should be granted to Kean, as the proprietor of a Hotel; that a license to keep tavern necessarily conveys the right to sell liquor; they cannot be separated. Taverns are for the common benefit of the community at large; they are absolutely necessary for the accommodation of the traveling public. Taverns are the creatures of general statute regulations, and are regulated and governed by certain uniform enactments. But coffee-houses are local in their organization and are governed by certain local regulations, and cannot come under the general provisions of tavern regulations, and therefore cannot require or compel a license to retail spirituous liquors disconnected from anything else.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.—The Journal of Commerce figures up the probable character of the next House of Representatives. Of members already elected, 28 are for the Nebraska bill. Nine slaveholding States that have not yet elected gave 46 votes for the bill, and will, it is supposed, return new members of the same sort. New members understood to be opposed to the repeal of the bill—though not voting for it—19, making in all 100 Nebraska men. The whole number of representatives is 234, and, according to the Journal's showing, the House will have quite a large anti-Nebraska majority; though the Senate, if its members vote as heretofore, stands the other way.

The Nashville steamboat inspectors have suspended the licenses of C. C. Chism and Alex. Richey, pilots—the former for incompetency, and the latter for intemperance. They also refused to grant license to Hugh Gormly, to pilot, for incompetency.

Mr. Lesley is a man of genius, and we always give him a warm welcome to our columns:

MARY NEAL.—A BALLAD.

BY JOHN M. LESLEY.

In the sunlight soft and golden,
As it crept above the hills,
Where the eye of day uncloses,
And the twilight dew distills,
Stood a maiden 'mid the flowers
That were glittering with the dew,
Till they seemed to catch the lustre
Of the rainbow's glorious hue.
Down the sky a radiance floated,
Tinged with purple and with gold,
Till it flashed across the vision
Wrapped in many a mystic fold;
And the softly sighing breezes
Kissed the blossoms as they sung,
And away "like Arab couriers"
On their silent journey sprung;
While a lovely music tinkled
From the swaying lily-bells,
That gave out a luscious odor
To the zephyr from their wells.

"I am waiting," sighed she, "waiting,
As the morning breaks away,
From the mist enveloped hills—
And the shadows into day;
Waiting, while the brooklet murmurs
As it murmured oft of yore,
When he always came to greet me
As the daylight floated o'er;
Waiting, till the heart grows weary
As the moments steal away,
Like the sands that usher morning
Into broad and brighter day;
But he comes not now to greet me,
Gliding through the scented bowers,
With a footstep as elastic
As he used to brush the flowers;
Not to meet me, though the dew drop
Glistens now as bright as yore,
Not to meet me, though the sunlight
Warm the hue that dawned on me;
Might I hope that down the sunbeams
Like a gossamer flitting by,
He would come from out of heaven
In the dim and distant sky;
Might I hear the spirit breathing
Floating o'er me as I stand,
I could pass without a murmur
To his dark and mystic land.
Oh! the world is very dreary,
And my soul is sore oppressed,
Could I meet my angel lover
I would be so sweetly blest;
For the mingling of our spirits
Like the clinging vines would twine,
While a pure and heavenly radiance
Through life's spangled halls would shine."

She was kneeling, sadly kneeling
In the garden filled with flowers,
And around her all unheeded
Sang the birds amid the bowers;
Sung with strains so sad and solemn
That a positive feeling stole
Down into the secret caverns
Of the half-enraptured soul.
Hours were fitting to the bosom
Of the dark and dreary past,
While the portals of the Future
Were swung open far and fast;
Moments tolled upon the dial
As they surged their rapid flight,
Till the heart grew worn and weary
As the dew-fall closed the light;
Still was kneeling in the garden,
As the morning saw her kneel,
Down amid the scented flowers,
The sweet maiden Mary Neal;
Though the shadow that had clouded
Half the radiance of her brow,
All was banished, and a lovely
Paleness settled on it now.
She had clasped her hands and smiling
In the attitude of prayer,
Down descending from his mansion
Her lost lover found her there;
Found her, and he wildly clasped her
To his bosom as of yore,
While the golden sunlight floated
Over hill-top, over moor;
Then her soul burned off the fetters
That had bound it down to earth,
As she felt his warm embraces
And her spirit thrilled forth.
Then the zephyr kissed her forehead,
Lifting up the curls that hung
In a rich and radiant cluster.
While a requiem it sung,
And the flowers that held an incense
Opened every luscious bloom
Till the sweetness half-enraptured
All the garden with perfume.

DANVILLE, ILL.

NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD.—This is one of the principal routes from Buffalo to Albany and New York. The road is very judiciously managed, easy to travel, and in charge of careful and polite officers, and runs through one of the finest sections in the country. This road has also the only direct connection by railroad with Niagara Falls. The cars have all the recent improvements and are comfortably furnished. The company runs three or four trains daily—one of them an express train, which goes through with lightning speed. The rates of fare have lately been reduced largely.

The lower part of Main street was the scene of a disgraceful affair yesterday. A man named Sam Hamman and his dog were engaged in it on one part and two men and a woman on the other. The whole party, with the exception of the woman who was wounded in the face by a brickbat, were taken to jail. Hamman keeps a public house between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, and is a violent man. He is but recently from Frankfort, where he has been serving the State.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT NEWS FROM EUROPE. Two steamships have arrived. The most important intelligence by this arrival is the capture of the Mamelon and White Towers, two of the strongholds of Sebastopol, by the French army, after a terrible slaughter on both sides. All peace negotiations are broken off. The commercial news is highly favorable. Mr. Greeley was arrested in Paris, and, after two days confinement, discharged.

STATUE OF HENRY CLAY.—Mr. George Theobald, of this city, has just completed a full size statue of Henry Clay at Mr. Baldwin's foundry, on Main street, between Floyd and Preston. We have not yet seen it, but learn from a gentleman that it is a splendid piece of workmanship and a fine representation of the great statesman. Every Kentuckian should see it.

The Pittsburgh papers contain long accounts of extensive damage by the sudden rise of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers. A few buildings and a number of bridges were swept off; the water flooded many houses; lumber rafts parted their cables, and flatboats were sunk; many gardens were ruined, and the railroads sustained considerable damage.

The river was falling last evening with 7½ feet water in the canal. The weather continues very warm and showery.

To the Editors of the Louisville Bulletin:

NEW YORK, June 15, 1855.

New York seems to be very chivalric, as two duels have lately originated here, and a third is anticipated between two high-toned officers who distinguished themselves in the Mexican war. I give you no names, as I hope the affair will be amicably and honorably adjusted.

Look out for an account of the great pacing match between Hero and Pocahontas on Tuesday next at the Union Course for $2,000, mile heats, best three in five, wagons and drivers weighing 265 pounds. It will probably be an exciting affair.

Yours, truly,

H.

NEWS ITEMS.

Gov. Gardner has issued a proclamation stating that the articles of amendment to the constitution submitted to the people on the 23d of May last, have been approved and ratified by a majority of the voters, and that they are now a part of the constitution of the State.

Know-Nothingism in Bank Management.—We learn from the New York papers, that there was an expression of surprise among the stockholders of the Broadway Bank, of that city, on the announcement that a new board of directors had been put in, on Tuesday, by the substitution of seven new members in place of seven old members; the majority of the latter having been with the bank since its first establishment in August, 1849.

Indiana War Over.—We learn that the trustees of the Wabash and Erie Canal have compromised with the Clay county regulators. The trustees have agreed to cut down the timber in the reservoir to the water's edge, and when the water can be spared, to let it out and remove all the timber, the regulators promising in return, not to meddle with any of the works of the canal.

Capt. Lamothe, of Alton, has purchased the steamer Mattie Wayne for $14,000 for the St. Louis and Alton trade. He intends to lengthen her.

A deckhand named Holeman was killed at Pittsburg last week by the bursting of a box on the steamer Pennsylvania, which contained vitriol, and was marked acid. The steamboat inspectors intend bringing suit against the shipper of the box for a violation of the steamboat law. Holeman inhaled the vapor.

INQUEST No. 87.—An inquest was held yesterday morning on the wharf near the ferry landing, on the body of Antony Wittenbauer, a German. He had been in this city about a week, boarding at the house of John Krieger on Wall street. He was standing near a lot of salt barrels under which a cable was fast, and, as the boat was being dropped down, the rope was forced out and struck him on the breast, which caused his death in a short time. From papers found, it appears that his residence was in Cincinnati, and that he left there on the 4th of May and went by the way of this city and St. Louis to LaSalle, Ill. A daguerrotype and a silver watch were also found in his pockets, which may be seen at the Coroner's office. Verdict in accordance with the above facts.

W. LEE WHITE, Coroner.

[Correspondence of the New York Tribune.]

HAVANA, June 12, 1855.

The following fact will afford some idea of the cruel treatment under which the Chinese "free colonists" labor in this island.

Some two or three weeks since, on an estate at the termination of the Macagua Branch railroad, seventeen Chinese laborers went to the mayoral (manager) to complain of the bad quality of the ration served out to them. In return, the mayoral knocked down the spokesman of the Chinese with his stick. On the others attempting to resent this treatment the mayoral summoned to his aid all the white Spaniards employed upon the estate, and they set to and beat the Chinese until three of them were killed and several others seriously injured. The brutes who thus acted have been permitted to go unpunished. It is notorious throughout the island that the Chinese are more cruelly treated than even the Africans.

WASHINGTON, June 18.

Mr. Soule has been with his friend Dudley A. Mann, in Richmond, the past two days. He is expected here to-morrow. His hostility toward Marcy increases in intensity.

Private letters from Louisiana express the belief that Morse, late District Attorney, but overslaughed by the Administration selecting Isaac E. Morse to prosecute Postmaster Kendall, will be nominated by the Democratic State Convention this week for Attorney-General in place of Morse.

Senator Slidell is said to be unamiable toward the Administration in consequence of the treatment of his friend Morse.

The Methodist Church South has just published the tenth annual report of its missionary society, from which we learn that the society has under care 368 missions, 311 missionaries, 128 churches, 79,050 church members, 185 Sunday schools, 25,034 children under religious instruction, 9 manual labor schools, and 485 Indian pupils. These are distributed thus: In the destitute portions of the regular work, 157 missions, 142 missionaries, 29,337 white members and 1,385 colored, 61 churches, 137 Sabbath schools, and 5,526 scholars; among the people of color, 170 missions, 124 missionaries, 46,577 colored members, 43 churches, and 17,883 children under religious instruction; among the Germans, 11 missions, 11 missionaries, 483 members, 6 churches, 10 Sunday schools, and 244 scholars; among the Indian tribes, 30 missions, 28 missionaries, 4,364 members, eight churches, 38 Sabbath schools, 1,381 scholars, 9 manual labor schools, and 485 pupils.

The contributions for the year 1854 amounted to $164,366, of which $22,772, the largest amount, was received from South Carolina conference, $20,970, the next in size, from the Alabama conference, and $19,083 47 from the United States Government. When or how this last sum was contributed we do not find stated; but unexplained it is somewhat of an anomaly.

The Bark Magnolia.—This unfortunate vessel lies in the stream, at the foot of Government street, in limbo, and in the clutches of Uncle Sam. If reports are true, she is a rich prize, and has on board more things than Col. Kinney could possibly have made use of in his agricultural expedition to Nicaragua. We hear that she has under deck the armament of a very respectable little army, far outnumbering any force that Col. Kinney was ever suspected of leading to Central America. What, for instance, would he have wanted with 3,000 rifles, 1,800 Colt's revolvers, 6,000 lbs. of powder made up into 300,000 rounds fixed ammunition, 1,000 tents, a battery of brass field pieces all complete, with harness, equipment, cartridges, and shot to match—lots of pikes and sabres, a quantity of clothing, and 500 coats? All this looks as if it were a part of another more important and baffled expedition—as if, indeed, it was intended that the Captain General Concha should have had an interest in all this preparation. We suppose the vessel will be libeled, and then there will be an exhibit to the public eye.

Horrible Tragedy.—On Wednesday last, a negro woman belonging to Mr. E. Williamson, residing about five miles from Griffin, took her two children—one aged about three, and the other about six years—went to the woods, hung the two children, and then hung herself!

MODERN PROGRESS IN THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.—The public have latterly had presented to them rather a novel feature in the journalism of the day, in the shape of elaborate scientific treatises on medical subjects appearing in consecutive chapters in the advertising and news columns of the daily and weekly newspapers of this city. These articles are from the pen of Dr. Hunter, No. 828 Broadway, the well known practitioner in pulmonary and bronchial diseases, and are distinguished from the empirical programmes usually put forth through the same medium by their thorough acquaintance with the subjects treated of, the simplicity and clearness of their language, and the demonstrative force of the arguments employed.

With these qualities to recommend them to our attention we cannot but welcome the appearance of these articles as heralding an important and beneficial revolution in the traditions and practice of the medical profession. There is no pursuit in which the spirit of old fogeyism has, in spite of the enlightenment of the age, managed more completely to trammel and subdue the human intellect. With a view to unity, like the Roman Catholic Church, it maintains its hold upon the almost superstitious awe and reverence of ignorant and unreasoning minds by involving the little of truth that it possesses in technical phraseology, derived from classical sources and consequently incomprehensible to the multitude.

But few men belonging to the craft—for such more correctly may be designated the medical profession—have had courage to emancipate themselves from the code of conventional as well as collegiate regulations which has been built up for its protection. Like the novitiate of the Egyptian priesthood, its mysteries and its privileges could only become accessible by a prescribed track, and after a long and often painful probation. There has been hitherto no short cut to professional success and fame recognized within its canons. Any man departing from the beaten road laid down for his guidance has been invariably treated as an outcast, and stigmatized as a quack. The result has been that, whilst the medical profession has been reduced to a close monopoly, it has extended but little its sphere of knowledge, and has consequently conferred less benefits upon the human race than it might otherwise have done.

One of the barriers, by which the profession has endeavored to fence itself around, has been the prohibition or discouragement held out to all attempts on the part of its members to enter into direct communication with the public. A medical man may address himself through the medium of a book, and under the cover of technicalities, to his own profession, but he must not appeal to the common sense and natural intelligence of the uninitiated members of the community lest the arcana of the healing art should cease to be, like the Eleusinian mysteries, an exclusive and profitable possession. The effect of this jealous and narrow-minded system on philanthropic and high spirited men may readily be conceived. They have had to chafe in silent indignation under restraints, the direct bearing of which has been to protect the privileges of the senior members of the profession, and keep down and discourage as much as possible all evidences of rising talent.

We are rejoiced to find that one man, and that a practitioner whose professional merits and skill cannot for a moment be questioned, has had the moral courage to break through the trammels imposed upon him by the old routine of his art. Dr. Hunter wisely, and in time, arrived at the conclusion that, if such acquisitions as he possessed were worth anything, the more extensive the circulation he gave to the results of his researches and experience the greater the benefits he would not only confer upon himself but upon the community. Between the limited publicity afforded him by the usual professional resource of book publication and that offered by the newspapers it is not surprising that he chose the latter. It presented the advantages of rapidity, comprehensiveness, and popularity, objects which, to a man ambitious of fame in his profession, were the readiest and surest elements of success.

We have had personal experience of the happy results of the Doctor's mode of treatment, and can vouch for its success. Owing to the severe drudgery incident to our pursuits, and that tendency to bronchial diseases with which the peculiarity of our climate afflicts such a large proportion of our population, we have been suffering for several years past from a throat affection, which all the medical remedies that we had formerly applied failed to cure. We can truly say that we have found more relief and greater hope of ultimately getting rid of the malady from Dr. Hunter's mode of treating than from that of any other medical man to whom we had previously submitted our case.

The lesson afforded by this brief sketch of Dr. Hunter's career is calculated to be useful to the medical profession. Here is a man who, chained down by the conventional prejudices and usages of his medical brethren, might have toiled on for half his life without arriving at the results to which his acquisitions entitled him to aspire. It cost him an effort of moral courage, and no doubt a sacrifice of some professional pride, to emancipate himself from the thralldom of associations in which they bound him. By having sufficient independence of character to shake loose these ties, and devote his talents to the general good of the community, he has, within an unprecedentedly short space of time, won the highest praises within the reach of a medical practitioner.

EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 21, 1855.

THE MAMMOTH OCEAN STEAMER.—The new steamer Leviathan, which is now being constructed in London, promises, when finished, to be the wonder of the age. To grasp the idea of a vessel measuring more than an eighth of a mile in length, with a capacity of twenty thousand tons and room enough besides for four thousand passengers with all their luggage, certainly requires some mental effort; but to conceive of such a monster grappling with wind and tide, and triumphantly forcing its way through the mighty billows of the Atlantic, becomes a task quite sufficient to stagger any ordinary intellect, and more than sufficient to exhaust the faith of the most credulous. If the Leviathan shall be able to show a full list of passengers for the first visit to our shores, it will certainly appear that the people of this day have more confidence in art and science than their ancestors, whom Fulton attempted to "humbly" with his "foolish invention." But science has achieved so much since the time of Fulton, that any want of faith in the success of this great enterprise would smatter of "old foginess;" nevertheless, in view of the fact that the sea has a way of knocking to pieces sometimes, vessels of all sizes, and leaving no possible way of escape for humanity, a little hesitation in a matter of this kind is pardonable.

The engines of the Leviathan, although said to be of 2,600 horse power, will in reality be capable of being worked up to 10,000 horse power. The united strength of 10,000 horses would seem to be power enough to move a small sized globe; and if not such an one as ours, at least an asteroid. It is confidently predicted, that, notwithstanding the great length of this steamer, she will be enabled to pass through the water at an average speed, in all weathers, of fifteen knots an hour, and with a smaller power in proportion to tonnage than ordinary vessels now require to make ten knots. The contract speed of most ocean mail-carrying steamers is eight knots. A ship of this huge capacity can carry 12,000 tons of coal—quite sufficient, it is stated, for her consumption on the outward and homeward voyages. She will be launched unlike any other ship—broadside on the water, by means of hydraulic power, and early in next spring is expected to make a trip to the United States and back, in a fortnight.

A NEW PEST.—The New York Evening Post says that an insect called the "Hunter Weevil," which attacks young corn, has made its appearance in Madison county, N. Y., and committed much damage to the crops. Dr. Fitch, in a letter to the Country Gentleman, recommends that they be removed by hand-picking, an employment in which children may be engaged—going from row to row with a bottle half filled with water to drown the vermin. The insect is not destroyed by ashes, lime, or salt, and hence must be removed by hand. It is a black, wedge-shaped insect, about a third of an inch long, and is said to have done the business for two acres in four days.

NEWS ITEMS.

There was a bloody cutting and shooting affray at Nashville, Ill., on Saturday last, between a man named Adams and two Caseys, father and son. The elder Casey was badly cut in the thigh, and the son severely cut in the hand. Mr. Fullbright, who had nothing to do with the quarrel, was dangerously wounded by the pistol shots.

From—Bar iron has been made in Iron county, Utah Territory, in the puddle furnace direct from the ore, and of a quality good enough to make horse-shoe nails from it.

It appears from a census lately taken in Kansas that there are 192 slaves in that Territory.

A SNAKE FIGHT.—A Mr. Daniel Terryman communicates to the Massillon (Iowa) News the following description of a thrilling encounter he had with a rattlesnake:

On first discovery, his snakeship was preparing to appropriate to his use a squirrel by the side of the road, but, probably fancying larger game, "put after" Mr. T., who gave "leg ball" and ran. On finding that the game between him and the snake was closing, Mr. T. sought the first weapon in the shape of a club, and turning gave the snake a blow just as the reptile was pausing and gathering for the fatal spring. The blow came just in the nick of time and just in the right spot, severing the head from the body. After the head was severed, the body continued to run in different directions, as is generally the case previous to death, but in this case it continued an unusual length of time, owing, no doubt, to the size of the reptile, and the amount of muscular strength which it possessed. After it became sufficiently quiet to be straightened out, Mr. T. measured it closely, and found it to be exactly 6 feet 11 inches in length by 9 1/2 inches in circumference.

WOODEN CORNICES.—Some owners go to very great expense to beautify the city, by erecting fine large commodious buildings, but commit the fatal error of finishing the work by perching upon the top a heavy wooden cornice, to imitate stone. Should fire ever occur in such a building or adjoining, such cornices furnish all the material for spreading the flames along the whole extent of the building and aid in its destruction. As fine a building as that at the northwest corner of Walnut and Fourth streets, has just such a mean-looking cornice placed upon it. An owner has, of course, in the absence of any prohibition, a right to build his house after any bad fashion he chooses, and were the consequences of an error to fall only upon himself, the public would have no right to complain. But buildings with such a large amount of wood around them endanger other property, which justifies their interference to have the fault corrected. Councils have the power to declare that no wooden cornices shall be added to a brick or stone house precisely as they prevent frame buildings from being erected, and for the same reason—danger from fire. If an act of the Legislature is necessary to enable them to pass such a prohibition, they cannot ask the power too soon. Our buildings are now reaching a height which makes it difficult to reach a fire, and it is a little singular that the most combustible portion of them should be placed at the very top.—Phila. Ledger.

FIENDISH OUTRAGE AT SYRACUSE.—The Syracuse (N. Y.) Standard contains the particulars of one of the most brutish outrages that ever disgraced any city:

The canal boat Hickory Bush, lying in the north side cut, Salina, waiting for a cargo, was boarded on Wednesday evening, May 30th, by eight miscreants, who have long been the terror and disgrace of that part of the city, and the young woman employed as cook was forcibly carried off and outraged.

The details of this horrible affair are sickening in the extreme. The following are substantially the facts of the case: The young woman in question is an English girl about nineteen years of age, without a relative in this country. She has for some time past lived in Glen Haven, but recently came to the city in search of employment. She applied to the intelligence office of King & Mann, and after waiting several days accepted the offer of a boat captain to go on board as cook. The very next day after her engagement, while the boat was lying at Salina, one of the infamous gang came on board under pretence of getting a cup of water, and tried to induce her to go with him. She, however, indignantly refused, and the scoundrel left, muttering ferocious threats. About 10 o'clock the whole gang boarded the boat, and breaking open the cabin, seized the girl. She called to the captain for aid, and escaping from their hands clung to him and implored protection.

The poor miserable poltroon, either terrified or in the conspiracy, refused to interfere, and the girl was forced from the boat, and carried along the tow-path and fields to the woods east of Mr. Briggs's at Greenpoint. Her cries for pity were unheeded, her entreaties were disregarded, and her shrieks were stopped by a gag. With blows and violence she was hurried along, and at last was forcibly stretched on the ground, the strongest and heaviest of the gang standing upon her ankles, while the rest accomplished their hellish purposes. The wretches did not abandon their victim until 3 o'clock in the morning, when they conducted her to another canal boat and locked her up. From this she however escaped, and by the aid of several salt-boilers and gentlemen passing in the street, she was enabled to identify several of the miscreants. Three have been arrested, but, to the disgrace of the city, two of them have found bail. The others are known and will be brought to justice if they remain upon the Western continent.

The poor victim has a temporary asylum with Captain Titus at the penitentiary, where she is slowly recovering from the effect of her horrible treatment. Let one visit her there, examine her condition, listen to the details of the outrage as given by her, to the sympathizing friends into whose hands she has fallen, and see her hopeless and heart-broken, if they have a spark of humanity in their bosoms, while their hearts will bleed with pity for her, they will turn to steel toward the authors of her wrongs, and will be filled with a determination that an awful retribution shall follow. Her limbs are complete masses of bruises; the marks of an iron-shod heel are plain upon her side, and her mouth and tongue are swollen and discolored from the effects of the gag.

This one outrage did not satisfy these monsters. Their passions receiving an additional stimulant from the brutality already accomplished, and maddened beyond the reach of caution, they commenced another assault upon a woman whom they accidentally met, after four o'clock in the morning. Nearly terrified to death, she ran into the yard and garden of one of our most respectable citizens, closely pursued by them. The gentleman was awakened by the cry of murder, and hastening out he rescued her from her pursuers.

This happened in one of our principal streets and after day-light in the morning.

A BIGAMIST CAUGHT.—A "gay Lorathio," rejoicing in the name of Nathan Brown, in our neighboring village of Galena, was arrested by the officers of the law a few days since, and is now confined in our county jail, for loving "not too fondly but two well." The circumstances of the case are about these: Brown formerly lived in Hamilton, O., where he had a wife, but whether that was the only wife he possessed at that time is doubted by many. From Hamilton he removed to Galena in this county, where he married another wife.

In Galena he was considered a very exemplary citizen. He was a prominent member of a church, and was highly respected. Some time since he left Galena and his second wife and proceeded to Evansville, where he was fast ingratiating himself into the good graces of another lady, and promised soon to have a third bride. In the mean time his rascality was discovered, and he received at Evansville a letter from his first wife in Hamilton, stating that she had come into possession of a considerable amount of means, and was ready to go with him to any place.

The ruse succeeded, and Brown proceeded to Cincinnati. He sent word to his wife to come there, which she did, accompanied by the sheriff. He met her at the depot, and after an affectionate greeting, she remarked: "Mr. Brown, permit me to introduce you to Mr. Sheriff." Brown "came down." He quietly submitted, and was forthwith brought to this place. He was taken before Esq. Jocelyn, where he pleaded guilty to the charges against him, and was committed to jail to await his trial. He will undoubtedly be furnished with lodgings at Sam. Patterson's boarding house in Jeffersonville.

"She has breastworks and knees," said Ike, describing the new U. S. ship Merrimack to Mrs. Partington, as she looked up at her roughly. "What is that, Isaac?" said the old lady looking up from a profound contemplation of Dudley Leavitt's Almanac. She had not caught all the remark. "She has breastworks and knees!" repeated Ike, smiling. "Breastworks and knees!" said Mrs. Partington, impressively, with a face that had a whole moral code written upon it, "and how do you know that?" "I saw 'em," responded he, "and put my hand on 'em." "Well," said she, raising her finger like a guide-post, "you must not let me hear such a thing from you again. Such shameless conduct is without a parable in one so young, and I am almost ready to believe in all they say of the moral turpitude of youth." She looked anxiously at Ike, who was sitting on his legs and rocking to and fro. "It was the new ship I was talking about," said he, grinning at the mistake she had made. "Oh!" said she, "was that all? Well, the lesson may be laid away in your mind till you need it." The old lady took a pinch of snuff, with her eyes upon the picture of the stiff corporal upon the wall, but the picture was motionless, and she turned towards Ike, who was making a row of porpoises in the side of a sheet of gingerbread ready for the oven.—Boston Post.

CHRIST CHURCH ORGAN.—As promised our readers a few days since, we subjoin a description of the magnificent instrument now completed in Christ Church, and which is to be used at the concert this evening. It is pronounced, by competent judges, far superior to any in our city.

The cost, put up in the Church, is about $3,000, and the proceeds of the concert are to be applied to the payment. Of course no lover of good music will neglect the opportunity of hearing it this evening.

The contents of the organ are as follows: Two sets of keys, compass of each from CC to G in alto, 56 notes. One and a half octaves of pedals, compass from CCC to G, 20 notes.

CONCLUSION OF THE FARENBACH MURDER TRIALS.—FULL CONFESSION OF TWO OF THE DEFENDANTS.—Thos. P. Longley and David Clark, indicted with Privott, Driscoll, Rice, Clippman, and Jenkins for the murder of Cephas Farenbach, on their arraignment for trial yesterday, entered a plea of guilty. In view of their extreme youth—neither of them eighteen years of age—and the probability of their being merely the instruments of older and more hardened villains, together with their knowledge of transactions recently come to light, which renders their lives of some importance to the State, the prosecuting attorney asked the jury to fix the penalty at imprisonment for each, in the State Prison for life, which was accordingly done.

Joseph Privott, John Jenkins, and John Chapman, the three remaining defendants, were then put upon trial. Thos. P. Longley was sworn and testified to the following effect:

Knows all the parties charged in the indictment. Only four of them, viz: Timothy Driscoll, Abram Rice, David Clark, and himself were engaged in the attempted robbery and murder. The robbery had been discussed for a month previous between himself and Driscoll. Wolf had first suggested it to Driscoll. Rice knew nothing of it until the day before the murder. Started for Farenbach's a little after dark. Arrived at Farenbach's about midnight. The largest Dutchman, Cephas Farenbach, opened the door; he lit a lamp and set it on a table. Driscoll took down the gun from over the fire-place and handed it to me. I threw it out in the yard. The younger brother, Mathias, raised up in bed as if to get out.

We told him to lie down again. The old man attempted to get up. One of us—I don't know which; knocked him down with a club. Rice and Clark kept Mathias, the younger brother from getting out of bed by striking at him with clubs. He warded off the blows with the pillow and bed clothes. Cephas jumped towards me and I fired the pistol. He staggered and fell. He had nothing on but his shirt. The old man had by this time crawled out into the yard. Tim and I then searched the bureau, but could find nothing. All of us then left and came up to the swinging bridge, where we had started from.

John P. Duffy then testified that he was with Privott, Chapman, and Jenkins on the night of the murder until 12 o'clock, in Waterberry's ice house.

The jury without leaving their box returned a verdict of not guilty.

GOLD BLUFF, WITCHAMOUNT, May 14.

Having just arrived at this point, I am not prepared to give you a correct history of the wealth or of the extent of the mining district. From the face of the country and many external appearances, I entertain no doubt of gold in inexhaustible quantity. Several of our company have been out prospecting, and have found, lying on the surface, specimens weighing from one to five dollars. We would probably have made a better investigation, but we labor under great fears of being attacked by the Comanche Indians hourly, as our force is quite weak. We are bound to keep together to save our scalps. We had quite a fine time from the frontier to our destination. We lived sumptuously on buffalo, antelope, and elk occasionally. The health of our company is exceedingly good. I hope, in a few days, to be able to give a more satisfactory account of the new Eldorado. Rain is falling in torrents.

Yours, very respectfully, W. M. B.

$100 REWARD.

Ran away from the subscriber, living in this city, on Monday, the 18th inst., a negro girl, named MARY, about 14 years old, of copper color, of medium size, and has a wren over her right eye. Had on when she left a brown berce dress or large figured muslin de laine and a green check sun-bonnet. The above reward will be paid for her arrest if taken in a free State or $50 if taken in this State, and secured in either event so I get her.

FOURTH AND FIFTH, LOUISVILLE, KY.
SAMUEL P. SECOR
Has on hand a large and handsome assortment of all kinds of FURNITURE, which he will sell very low for cash.
Being a practical Boot and Shoe Maker, and having his workmen under his own supervision, can answer for the durability and superior style of his workmanship.
Thanking the public for past favors, he solicits their further patronage, and nothing on his part will be wanting for their ease and comfort.
He begs to advise, in particular, those ladies and gentlemen who consider a well-fitting Boot or Gaiter an indispensable article to the total ensemble of all within the circle of the best mode that 425 Market street is the only place in Louisville where they can be had at such low prices.
Gentlemen's Boots of the best quality. Eastern Work at reduced prices.

EVENING BULLETIN.

[From this morning's Journal.]

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIPS ASIA AND ST. LOUIS.

NEW YORK, June 20.

The steamship St. Louis arrived this morning, bringing London dates of the 6th.

The Asia arrived out on the 2d.

Cotton was active at a further advance of 1/4d. Consols 91 1/2.

Political News.—A dispatch was received from Kerschl, dated May 1st, from which it appears that the squadron in the Sea of Azoff had appeared before Girtchik, landed a body of seamen, and, driving the Russians from the place, destroyed all the depots and vessels loaded with corn and supplies for the Russian army.

Only one man has been wounded since the entry of the fleet into the Sea of Azoff.

Four steamers and 240 vessels employed in carrying supplies to the Russian army in the Crimea have been destroyed by the allies.

The conference at Vienna was formally closed at a late sitting.

Gen. Pellissier telegraphs from the Crimea, under date of June 1st, as follows:

"We are springing two mines in front of the Flagstaff Bastions, and the second explosion did considerable damage to the enemy. In a ravine in advance of our works our engineers discovered a transverse line of twenty-four cubic cases, filled with gunpowder, each forty centimetres thick, placed at an equal distance, and buried just beneath the soil; each case containing one-fifth kilogramme of powder, which would explode by a simple pressure of the foot. These have been taken up by our engineers."

A dispatch from Prince Gortschakoff, dated on the 29th of May, states that the allies had occupied Kertsch but had not pushed inland. He reported that in consequence measures had been taken so that the allies would not be able to cut off all communications of the Russian army.

The Port Gazette, of Frankfurt, publishes a dispatch from Odessa to the effect that the Russians were raising batteries to command the channel near Girtchik, which connects Petro Lake with the Sea of Azoff.

Another dispatch says that Gen. Onchokoff had arrived at Perekok with his division, consisting of four regiments, each of which are 3,600 strong. Gen. Grossenheim had also arrived at Perekok with four regiments of cavalry, consisting of 960 each. These give Gortschakoff a reinforcement of 8,000 men.

Letters from Berlin of the 1st state that the success of the allies had made an impression there.

A letter received from the French camp at Sebastopol, dated May 22d, states that the allies are on the eve of great events, that all arrangements had been made in a council of war, at which Generals Canrobert, Pellissier, Lord Raglan, Bosquet, Omar Pacha, Brown, and Admirals Burat and Lyons were present.

All of the reinforcements had come up, making the French army amount to 200,000 men.

Both houses of parliament met on the 4th inst., after Whitsuntide and the Derby races.

In the House of Lords the newspaper stamp duties bill passed. In the House of Commons the adjourned debate on the conduct and policy of the war was resumed, and after a lengthened discussion the subject was again adjourned.

Mr. Gibson, now considering the Turkish territory safe, condemned persistence in the war, which he described of indefinite extent and only pursued in a vain desire for military glory.

Sir W. Molesworth denounced the temptation which had been presented for the conclusion of peace, and contended that the safety, as well as the glory of the British Empire, would be periled by any signs of cowardice, or surrender of the high principles which constitute the real bond of union among the scattered elements of English national grandeur.

The crops throughout Great Britain are very promising.

On the 23d, 190 cases of cholera occurred at St. Petersburg.

A telegraphic dispatch from Cognhare announces the death of the Bey of Tunis. He died on the night of the 25th. His successor and cousin, Sid Mohammed Bey, had ascended the throne without any obstacle.

Commercial.—Liverpool Cotton Market, June 5.—Brown, Shipley & Co. say that the Asia's advices increased the excitement in the cotton market and prices advanced 1/4d. Middling Orleans 6 15 1/2.

Richardson, Spence & Co. report a fair business since Monday in Spanish and Baltic wheat, at 20 3/4d advance. Of American only 5,000 bushels sold; it is held at 13s without buyers. Flour is inactive. Corn was in light demand, and the stock limited; yellow and mixed were high 7 1/2d to 8 1/2d. Clear Baltimore and Philadelphia flour 42 to 45s. Yellow corn 5 1/2d to 5 3/4d; white 5 1/2d to 5 3/4d.

Provisions are unchanged and prices are firm. Bacon is firmer, holders ask 51 1/2d. Lard is firmer.

Funds showed an unchanging buoyancy, and on the 4th the tea was a further advance of 1/4d.

HALIFAX, June 20.

The Asia arrived early this morning. She left Liverpool on the 1st of the 19th.

The bombardment of Sebastopol recommenced on the 6th.

The day the steamer sailed a dispatch was received from Lord Raglan, dated June 8th, 6 P. M., announcing that, after a fierce bombardment, the French attacked and carried the Mamelon and White towers, and that the greatest gallantry was exhibited on both sides. The loss of both the Russians and the French was very great.

The buoyancy in public feeling caused a slight rise in consols.

There are no features other than the above of striki g interest in the news.

The buoyant feeling in the cotton market at the departure of the St. Louis subsequently gave way, and prices underwent a partial decline, which afterwards recovered, and the market closed steady at about previous quotations. The business of the week amounted to about 107,000, mostly speculative.

Breadstuffs—There is no change of any moment except in corn which advanced, 1s since the departure of the Atlantic.

Provisions are generally firm and in some cases a slight advance was established.

London.—Money is still easier. There is still another great increase of bullion in the Bank of England. Consols close at 92.

Cotton—Orleans fair 7 1/2d, middling 6 11-16; upland fair 7, middling 6 1/2d. It is estimated that the sales on Saturday amounted to over 12,000 bales with a good demand.

Breadstuffs and provisions are wholly unchanged, except corn which has advance 1s.

Brown & Shipley quote white wheat at 12s to 12s 8d, red wheat 10s 9d to 11s 9d. Western corn 4s 4d to 4s 12d, Ohio 4s 4s to 4s 12d. White corn 5s 5s to 5s 12d to 5s 12d.

London, June 6.—Baring Bros. quote breadstuffs generally unchanged and market dull. Sugar declined; Coffee steady and unchanged. The iron market closed steady; Welsh bar iron, on shipboard, £7; Welsh rails, shipboard, £6 15s 6d. The money market is easier. Consols close for money 91 1/2. The bullion has increased for money 91 1/2. American stocks are active—U. S. 6's, 88, 107; Pennsylvania 5's, bonds, 84 1/2 to 86 1/2.

Virginia 6's 87 to 89; Erie, mortgage 85 to 87; Illinois, bonds, 69 1/2 to 70 1/2.

The weather is favorable for the crops.

Manchester.—The market is dull and prices unchanged.

The conference at Vienna having finally closed at the instigation of the Western Powers, negotiations are not likely to be renewed unless Russia shall apply to Austria for her good offices.

The Russian correspondence say that Austria considers herself released from all engagements to the Western Powers. The latter having refused to conclude a peace on reasonable terms. Austria, however, still professes herself the ally of France and England and subject to the articles of the treaty of December 2d.

The Vienna papers are advised that, although the conferences have closed, the plenipotentiaries have the Austrian propositions under consideration, and Austria still desires to effect a mediation. In the meantime the military commissioners of France and England have left Vienna.

The government dispatches in regard to the affair before Sebastopol show great gallantry on the part of the French.

The Russian plan was to unite all of the ambuscades by a line of gabions connected by a continuous covered way South.

The allied advance on Tchernaya and the allied force consisted of 20,000 men. The condition of the ground at this place shows that the Russians never intended to maintain their ground.

Dispatches indicate that the allies yet own the side of the river.

The allies found 1,700 tons coal in Kertsch.

The allies propose to fortify Yenikale, but they will not hold Kertsch.

Gortschakoff telegraphs under date of June 3d, that the allies left Genitich and that a part of the burned stores would be saved.

Cracow letters repeat that the insurrection at Ukraine had not yet been suppressed.

The Baltic British and French fleets were close to Croustadt on the 4th June.

Pellissier telegraphs, June 3d, that the Russians have evacuated Sangakale, destroying it before doing so.

Changes had occurred in the Turkish cabinet, and new combinations were springing up.

In the House of Commons Sir Francis Baring's motion was permitted to pass. The motion was that the House having seen with regret that the conference at Vienna had not led to a termination of hostilities, it is the duty to declare and give every support to her Majesty in the prosecution of the war, until she shall, in conjunction with her allies, obtain for the country a safe and honorable peace.

France.—A decree extends to the exportation of breadstuffs to England during the present year.

The King of Sardinia will probably meet Queen Victoria at Paris in August, and perhaps the Sultan will also come.

Spain.—The Government represents the Carlist insurrection as suppressed, but the province of Catalonia had been placed in a state of siege.

There had been a break-up in the Spanish ministry, and a compulsory loan of 200,000,000 had been imposed.

Italy.—Maximilian, a brother of the Emperor, had a private interview with the Pope, and there was considerable speculation about its object.

There had been numerous political arrests made in the Roman States.

WASHINGTON, June 19.

The President has called Gov. Reeder and other officers to account for speculating in Kansas with the half breeds in violation of the acts of Congress, and tells them they cannot be kept in office unless the impression now on his mind shall be removed by a satisfactory explanation. Gov. Reeder promises to reply when he shall reach Kansas.

The Rev. Dr. Parker, the missionary who has at present in charge our diplomatic relations with the government of China, writes that he will be in this country shortly to recruit his health.

NEW YORK, June 19.

A report has arrived from Para that of about 300 emigrants per the Portuguese ship Defensor at Para from Oporto, 47 died on the passage from hunger and ill usage. They were only 30 days at sea.

BOSTON, June 19.

Judge Shaw of the Supreme Court decided in the case of Bridget Sullivan, who was committed under the liquor law, that the 32d section of that law granting the right of appeal is unconstitutional, and has no force. The repeal statutes are inconsistent in its provisions and leaves the revised statutes in full force, so that the committee is in accordance with the statute. It is valid though unsupported by the new law.

The case will be brought up. A habeas corpus was granted.

TROY, June 20.

The notorious Henrietta Robinson, the murderer, was sentenced this morning by Judge Harris to be hung on the 3d of August, when the Judge commended her soul to God's mercy. She said he had better pray for his own soul, declaring she was a victim to a political conspiracy calculated to crush the innocent. When she was leaving the court room, Judge Harris said: "May the Judge of judges be your Judge."

The scene occasioned much excitement among the spectators.

BOSTON, June 20.

In the United States Commissioner's Court today, Louis Camagi was held for trial on the charge of enlisting men for the British army. Schaterer and Kaufman were discharged.

The United States officers are searching for other parties who, it is alleged, are engaged in this business.

The Know-Nothing and American Crusader office was partially destroyed by fire this morning. The forms were ready for the press. This will cause the suspension of the paper for this week.

NEW YORK, June 18.

In the matter of the Alderman committee appointed to inquire into the nativity of policemen, &c., and the several contumacious witnesses who have been before them, Judge Daily this morning delivered an opinion against the witnesses, warrants will be issued for their commitment, if they now refuse to answer.
